World Education Games 2015

As the South Australian Shadow Minister for Education, I am honoured to support World Education Games 2015.

To develop in our students passion for continued learning throughout their formative years and into their adult lives will assist all students, not only those who choose to go into career which places a high emphasis on numeracy and literacy or into tertiary education in these areas. Of course, it will give all students a head start to success in their day-to-day lives.

As Australian communities grow more intertwined with the world around us, supporting World Education Games will also assist in aiding the delivery of education programs in disadvantaged countries. Through fundraising for the UNICEF 'School-in-a-Box' kits, the World Education Games will help to get classroom resources into schools in disadvantaged areas of countries throughout the world.

I hope that the World Education Games 2015 participants have fun, make new friends and enjoy learning and developing new skills and knowledge.
